

Case Study: Enhancing Leaping Frogs – The School Through Content Marketing & Creative Graphic Design

Executive Summary:

This project focused on strengthening Leaping Frogs – The School's digital presence through strategic content marketing and creative graphic design. The objective was to improve brand awareness, engage parents and prospective families, and communicate the school's values through visually appealing and informative social media content. The strategy emphasized consistent content planning, high-quality creatives, and educational storytelling to build trust and increase audience engagement.

Goals	Objectives
Strengthen personal branding	Improve the school's visibility through engaging social media content.
Strengthen parent engagement	Share informative and interactive educational content.
Build a professional online presence	Design consistent and visually appealing graphics.
Showcase school activities	Highlight events, achievements, and learning experiences.
Maintain content consistency	Follow a structured content calendar for regular posting.

Background Context:

Leaping Frogs – The School is an educational institution focused on providing a nurturing learning environment for children. To strengthen its online presence, the school required engaging social media content and professionally designed graphics that reflected its educational values and connected with parents and the community. Our role was limited to content marketing and graphic design, helping maintain a consistent and visually appealing brand identity across social media.

Problem Statement:

The school required a structured content strategy and professional graphic designs to consistently communicate its educational approach, activities, and achievements. Without a planned content calendar and engaging visuals, maintaining audience interest and building a strong digital presence was challenging.

Risk	Alternative
Low social media engagement	Create informative and visually engaging educational content.
Inconsistent posting	Develop a monthly content calendar with scheduled posts.
Weak visual branding	Use consistent colors, fonts, and graphic styles across all posts.
Limited audience reach	Design shareable content highlighting school activities and achievements.
Changing social media trends	Update content formats using carousels, Reels concepts, and interactive posts.

Methodology:

The content strategy was developed through audience research, competitor analysis, educational content planning, and social media trend analysis. Graphic designs were created to maintain a consistent visual identity while effectively communicating school events, admissions, achievements, and educational messages.

Analysis (SWOT Analysis):

Strengths	Weaknesses
Strong educational values and child-focused learning environment.	Limited digital visibility without consistent content.
Opportunity to showcase real classroom activities and achievements.	Dependence on regular content updates for engagement.
High trust potential among parents.	Competitive education market.
Positive community presence.	Limited reach without strategic content marketing.
Oppor tunities	Threats
Growing use of social media by parents for school research.	Competition from other educational institutions.
Educational storytelling and parent-focused content.	Frequent social media algorithm updates.
Event highlights and student achievement posts.	Declining engagement due to inconsistent posting.
Creative graphics to improve brand recognition.	Increasing competition for online attention.
